Food for thought: The Promise not the Problem

Ten of the twelve spies that Moses sent into the promised land ran into trouble because they were worried about being in the same territory as their enemies. Yes Joshua and Caleb saw the inhabitants of the land but they kept their focus on the grapes instead. They didn't allow themselves the luxury of getting distracted.

We all have a few fender benders every now and again and they usually happen when we take our eyes off of where we are suppose to be going and start looking elsewhere. When God tells you to go someplace, do not worry about anyone else's presence. You have been ordained to be there, so anyone who tries to distract you must deal with God himself. There are always distractions waiting in every area but choose to focus on the positive. Keep moving till you are able to focus on what God sees because "the fruit of the land is already ripe and waiting, don't pay attention to evil reports.

Don't get paralysed, be of good cheer. Look in the midst of your crisis and see all the rich fruit, pick some of it and bring it back as a testimony! Beyond feeling outnumbered and overwhelmed God needs you to open your eyes and assess is the land strong, weak or what?! In His own timing He will reveal the enemy's plots and plans.

This month, I am praying that you will see treasure that no one sees right in the midst of your situation. I pray God's abundance in the midst of any lack.

By faith you can take the land and possess it in Jesus Mighty Name!
